The ADASS 2004 Local Organizing Committee is seeking proposals for a workshop to take place on the Sunday afternoon preceding the ADASS Conference (October 24, 2004).

In recent years, the workshops have covered such topics as "VO Software and Standards", "XML and Web Services for Astronomers", and "Python for Scientific Computing".  The available time slot is just over four hours in duration (13:00 to 17:15), although the time need not be used in its entirety.

Proposals for potential workshops should be submitted via e-mail to adass@ipac.caltech.edu.  The  proposal  should  consist  of  a  brief description of the workshop, including topics to be covered and the proposed instructor.

All proposals should be received by Friday, September 3, 2004, in order to receive full consideration.

Please forward this announcement to any of your colleagues who might be interested in participating in ADASS http://adass.ipac.caltech.edu .

We look forward to seeing you in Pasadena!

Sincerely,
   Local Organizing Committee
